

Yang Yanping: female, Ph.D., associate research fellow of Information Analysis and Knowledge Product Research and Development Center, National Science Library, Chinese Academy of Sciences. She was selected as member of "Youth Innovation Promotion Association" of Chinese Academy of Sciences in 2018. From 2001 to 2008, she received bachelor's degree and master's degree from Nanjing Agricultural University. In 2012, she graduated from Institute of Genetics and Developmental Biology, Chinese Academy of Sciences, and received doctoral degree. In the same year, she entered the National Science Library, Chinese Academy of Science Library, Chinese Academy of Sciences.

At present, she is mainly engaged in agricultural science and technology information research and serves as the leader of modern agriculture and biology team. Scientific research and achievements are mainly focused on the methods and application of discipline strategic information, the frontier and hot research of discipline development in the field of agriculture and biology, discipline development strategy, comparative analysis of competitiveness of scientific research institutions, research on agricultural innovation system, identification and evaluation of discipline integration and so on.

She has been in charge of and participated in more than ten research topics and tasks entrusted by the institute and abroad, including intellectual property analysis, domain strategic planning, domain dynamic monitoring and domain situation analysis, and relevant work has been recognized by users. In the past five years, she has participated in the writing of more than 20 research reports and monograph chapters, published 11 academic papers in total, of which 6 were the first authors, and also participated in the writing of several specialized newspaper.

Contact email: yangyp@mail.las.ac.cn